Welcome

A Word from the Director

Dear Colleague,

I am pleased to invite you to the Department of Mental Health's annual Spring Training Institute and the National Autism Symposium. This is the first year for both events to be held simultaneously and at the same location. We hope you will benefit from the opportunity to learn from experts in the fields of mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse while also interacting with other professionals, family members, and persons needing services and supports from all three of the Department's operating divisions.

This year's theme, From Research to Practice, reflects our pledge to provide Missourians challenged by mental illness, substance abuse disorders, and developmental disabilities with services that are timely, effective, and efficient. In spite of these difficult financial times, we must stay abreast of the latest research and best practices in order to maintain a quality of care that results in the best possible outcomes for our consumers and their families.

It is important for you to know that both events are funded through conference registration fees, co-sponsorships, and exhibitor fees so that consumer services are in no way compromised. It is only through this external support that we are able to provide you with such high quality training year after year. Many of your staff and ours would be unable to maintain necessary professional licensure and certification without it. In addition, consumers and family members provide powerful input and have the opportunity to benefit as self advocates. The Department's Spring Institute demonstrates our ongoing commitment to a workforce that is caring, competent, and valued.

Sincerely,

Dorn Schuffman, Director
Department of Mental Health

Information

Respite Care – Autism Symposium

On-site child/adult respite care will be available for persons age three and above with autism, and their siblings, with a parent co-pay of $50 per child, per day, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday for children of parents registered for the National Autism Symposium and registered at Tan-Tar-A Resort. The co-pay partially covers the cost of respite, lunch, and snacks. Respite will include individual and group activities, swimming at the hotel pool, and various outings, as appropriate. The respite care service is limited to the first thirty (30) persons registered by mail. As the number of respite users is limited, a confirmed respite reservation will be necessary and will be available only on days the parent is registered for the Symposium. Please register for this service as soon as possible as respite fills up quickly. Pre-registration, including co-pay, is required. Families will be responsible for providing food for any special diets. Please complete the respite care registration form included in this brochure for each individual who will be participating and return with your symposium registration form to the address indicated.

Special Needs

The Department of Mental Health complies with guidelines set forth in the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. If you have special needs as addressed by the ADA, please contact Debra McBaine prior to the Spring Training Institute at (573) 751-4942 or e-mail debbie.mcaine@dmh.mo.gov. Reasonable efforts will be made to accommodate any special needs. Real time captioning will be provided during all plenary sessions.

Cancellations and Refunds

Registration fees for the Spring Training Institute and National Autism Symposium will be refunded for cancellations received by May 1. No refunds will be given after that date. Please notify us if you plan to send a substitute. Notice of cancellation and substitution must be submitted in writing and faxed to the number on the appropriate registration form. Registrants who do not attend the conference and do not notify us are responsible for full payment.

Continuing Education Units

Spring Training Institute

The Missouri Substance Abuse Counselors Certification Board has approved the Spring Training Institute for 16 contact hours.

The Mid-America Addiction Technology Transfer Center is providing CEUs through the University of Missouri-Kansas City for this Department of Mental Health event.

Applications for continuing education credit are being submitted to the National Association of Social Workers—Missouri Chapter, and the Region VII Rehabilitation Continuing Education Program, University of Missouri, Columbia.

NOTE: If you are seeking continuing education credit for a specialty not listed above, it is your responsibility to contact your licensing/certification board directly to determine eligibility of this training to meet your CEU requirement.

Certificates of completion, indicating contact hours earned, will be mailed to all participants after the Institute.

National Autism Symposium

The Symposium qualifies participants for continuing education credit from Southwest Missouri State University.

Keynote Speakers

Scott D. Miller, Ph.D., is a co-founder of the Institute for the Study of Therapeutic Change, a private group of clinicians and researchers dedicated to studying “what works” in treatment. He also works as a therapist providing all clinical services pro bono to traditionally underserved clients. Dr. Miller conducts workshops and training in the United States and abroad and is known for his engaging and humorous presentation style. He has presented to many professional audiences including the American Psychological Association, the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis, and the National Association of Social Workers. He is the author of numerous articles and co-author of Working with the Problem Drinker: A Solution Focused Approach (Norton, 1992), The “Miracle” Method: A Radically New Approach to Problem-Drinking, with Insoo Kim Berg, (Norton, 1995), Finding the Adult Within: A Solution-Focused Self-Help Guide, with Barbara McFarland (Brief Therapy Center Press, 1995), The Heroic Client: Principles of Client-Directed, Outcome-Informed Clinical Work (Jossey-Bass, 2000), and the forthcoming, Creating Hope: “What Works” with Borderline-Diagnosed Clients, with Kay Vaughn and Linda Willits.

King Davis, Ph.D., is a professor in the School of Social Work at the University of Texas at Austin and the Robert Lee Sutherland Chair in Mental Health and Social Policy. He also serves as Director of the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health. His research and teaching at the university have focused on public mental health policy, the provision of culturally competent mental health services, health care for the mentally ill, and disparities in rates of illness and services for consumers of color. Davis served on the Surgeon General’s Task Force on Mental Health and is a consultant to the President’s New Freedom Commission on Mental Health and the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors. Dr. Davis managed the Virginia Department of Mental Health, Mental Retardation and Substance Abuse Services from 1990-1995 and previously served as its director of community mental health services.

Jerry Newport is a “late bloomer”, autism-wise. He was born August 19, 1948 and prior to seeing Rain Man in 1989, was unaware of his autism. Jerry’s first wake up call came after he multiplied 4,343 by 1,234 in a movie theater faster than “Rain Man” responded on screen. Prior to this self-discovery, Jerry’s major interests were politics, sports, music, and nature. Since 1991, Jerry has been active in the autism community. He served on the board of directors of the Autism Society of Los Angeles and its agency, PDH, Inc.

During his tenure, Jerry founded an adult support group called Adult Gathering, United, and Autistic (AGUA). Today, Jerry lives in Tucson, Arizona with his wife, Mary, who is also a savant with Asperger’s Syndrome. He writes and speaks about adult issues in autism and his first book, Your Life is Not a Label: A Guide to Living Fully with Autism and Asperger’s Syndrome, is now in its second printing. He and his wife co-wrote, Autism, Asperger’s Syndrome, and Sexuality.

Barbara Doyle is a Clinical Consultant who specializes in enhancing the learning and communication of people with disabilities. Ms. Doyle has focused her attention on special populations (autism, deafness, deaf/blindness) and has developed special and effective approaches to learning, teaching and communicating. She consults to schools, agencies and other entities interested in improving services to people with autism related disorders. Barbara has Bachelor of Science degrees in Elementary Education and Special Education with a focus on deaf and hard of hearing children and a Master of Science degree in Business Management, focusing on Human Resource Development issues and the challenges of teaching adults. She is an adjunct faculty member of Southern Illinois University School of Medicine, Dept. of Psychiatry, Division of Developmental Disabilities, and provides support to clinic clients with autism spectrum disorders. Barbara is a founding member of the board of directors of the Illinois Assistive Technology Project, a federally funded program designed to disseminate information about assistive technology to the citizens of Illinois. She is the Co-author of ASD from A to Z, a comprehensive, two-volume autism manual for staff and families.

Temple Grandin, Ph.D., is perhaps one of the most noted high functioning individuals with autism in the world. She travels extensively to speak at autism conferences and has published several fascinating books about the experience of growing up with autism and the techniques she has used to cope, including Thinking in Pictures and Other Reports from My Life with Autism. Dr. Grandin is a designer of livestock handling facilities and an Associate Professor of Animal Science at Colorado State University in Fort Collins. In addition to her career in animal science, she has helped thousands of parents and professionals understand how to help individuals with autism and asperger’s syndrome. Her talks are vivid and candid, talking about life from childhood to adulthood, social skill development, visual thinking, use of medications, and more, in her highly personal look at autism.

Super Session Presenters

Bob Bertolino, Ph.D., is an innovator in the field of counseling and psychotherapy who is dedicated to creating and promoting respectful and effective approaches that encourage happiness, healthiness, and change in the lives of people. A therapist, author, and trainer, he has been described as “genuine and compassionate” and referred to as “a breath of fresh air”. He is a highly sought after international speaker and his workshops have consistently been highly rated, offering hope and rekindling the spirit of professionals and the general public. Bob is Senior Director of Clinical Services at Youth In Need, Inc., in St. Charles, Missouri, founder of Therapeutic Collaborations Consultation and Training, a training associate at the Institute for the Study of Therapeutic Change, and an assistant adjunct professor in the departments of counseling/family therapy and social work at St. Louis University and rehabilitation counseling at Maryville University. Dr. Bertolino has authored or co-authored several books including, Therapy with Troubled Teenagers: Rewriting Young Lives in Progress, Even from a Broken Web.

Vincent Covello, Ph.D., is the founder and Director of the Center for Risk Communication. Over the past twenty-five years, he has held numerous positions in academia and government, including Associate Professor of Environmental Science and Clinical Medicine at Columbia University. He is a nationally recognized expert in the use of risk communication principles to assure that messages are effectively heard in high concern situations. Dr. Covello worked closely with Mayor Giuliani in developing a communications plan for high risk situations, a plan that served as a platform and foundation for his leadership in New York after 9/11. He has authored or edited numerous articles on risk assessment, management, and communication.

G. Alan Marlatt, Ph.D., a Professor of Psychology and Director of the Addictive Behaviors Research Center, Department of Psychology, University of Washington, Seattle, introduced the “balanced placebo design” into alcohol research. He coined the term “relapse prevention”, revolutionizing how treatment is delivered throughout the world. Dr. Marlatt is extensively published and cited with respect to addictive behaviors, with a focus on alcohol. He is author of a Center for Substance Abuse Prevention Model Program, Brief Alcohol Screening and Intervention for College Students. His research interests include prevention of alcohol abuse and dependence in high-risk youth, studies of self-initiated behavior change with addicted behaviors, and he has published several articles related to smoking cessation.

Cardwell C. Nuckols, Ph.D., known by most as C.C. Nuckols, is a recognized expert in the areas of behavioral medicine, addictions treatment, and workplace productivity training. He is currently the Executive Vice President of TransMillennial Resource Corporation/Campus Hospitals in Ohio and President of Cardwell C. Nuckols and Associates, a Florida based international consulting and training company. He is widely published and his first book, Cocaine Dependency to Recovery, is a trade best seller. His recent work, Roadblocks to Recovery, is designed specifically for the difficult to treat dual disorder client. He was recently selected by the American Society of Addiction Medicine to assist in the development of placement criteria for dual disorder clients.

Mary Ann Pentz, Ph.D., is a Professor of Preventive Medicine and the Director of the Center for Prevention Policy Research at the University of Southern California. For over a decade, her research has focused on community and policy approaches to tobacco, alcohol, and drug abuse prevention in youth. She has published widely in psychology, public health, and medical journals on the use of multi-component approaches to community-based prevention that include mass media. Her findings from longitudinal prevention trials contributed to the formulation of a U.S. Senate Bill and use of evidence-based criteria for appropriating funds for prevention under the Safe and Drug Free Schools Act. She also served on the Office of National Drug Control Policy’s Campaign Design Expert panel to develop the new anti-drug abuse media campaign that was approved by Congress.

Richard Rawson, Ph.D., has spent his career conducting research and developing treatment systems for substance abuse disorders. Dr. Rawson has been a member of the UCLA Department of Psychiatry for over twenty years and is currently the associate director of the UCLA Integrated Substance Abuse Programs. In this role, Dr. Rawson oversees a portfolio of addiction research ranging from brain imaging studies to numerous clinical trials on pharmacological and psychosocial addiction treatments, to the study of how new treatments are applied in the treatment system. He also serves as Executive Director of the Matrix Center and Matrix Institute on Addiction in Los Angeles, California, one of the most progressive substance abuse treatment groups in the United States today.
